

Just Write.

You have just been informed that you have won an important award for your work.

Write a speech about how grateful you are, thanking people for their help. Remember to show the right amount of humility. It's quite popular to end an acceptance speech with some kind of political statement. Maybe this is the right time to criticize meat-eaters or object to Daylight Saving Time?